Roll a ring or hoop along the ground.
Run your hands around its circle shape.
Think about how it has no beginning or end – it just keeps going.

Explore what others think.

Ask each person: What do you think about a 'forever God'?

- write their idea on a thin strip of paper
- staple the first strip of paper into a circle
- staple the next strips into a circle too, but link each one through the circle before
- this will make a paper-chain full of ideas
- each circle is a reminder that God has no beginning and no end
- the chain is a reminder that any person can connect to God and the chain could go forever too
